Joseph C. Harsch will address World Affairs Institute finale

A foreign correspondent for the "Christian Science Monitor," Joseph C. Harsch, will give the last lecture of the World Affairs Institute next Tuesday. Mr. Harsch was originally scheduled to speak Nov. 28, but was unexpectedly sent to Europe to cover the Middle Eastern oil crisis.

The talk is the eighth on the Institute's theme, "The Containment of Communism." It will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium. Students will be admitted on activity tickets.

Foreign affairs

Mr. Harsch has had wide experience in the field of foreign affairs, always seeming to be in the right places at the right times. He lived in Berlin from 1930 until 1941. His experiences during these years are contained in his book, "Pattern for Conquest."

JOSEPH C. HARSCH

Harsch was in Honolulu during the Japanese attack. He went on to cover the war in the South Pacific from there.

Monitor, CBS

Formerly head of the Christian Science Monitor's Washington news bureau, Harsch returned to this country in 1943 to become a news commentator for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

In 1945, Harsch left the US for the second time to visit Iron Curtain countries. He recorded his observations in a book, "The Curtain Isn't Iron."

Mr. Harsch is now a columnist for the Monitor and news analyst for the Liberty Broadcasting System.

Five ROTC cadet officers pass first test for captain

Five cadet first lieutenants in OU's AF-ROTC unit have passed the written test for cadet captain, Maj. Robert E. Whaley revealed today.

They are Willard J. Morris, Robert Stryker, Franklin Sedlacek, Robert Darrah and William Ryan. In addition, Michael Hogan, Herbert White, Ronald Benson, Donald Peters and James Christensen have passed the written test for cadet first lieutenant.

Lieutenant tests

Maj. Whaley also announced that the 18 compression students in the program will be allowed to take the tests for cadet first lieutenant next semester.

Since the compression students will be seniors next fall, they are being given this chance to become officers now.

Also announced were the promotion of 25 cadets to sergeant and four to cadet corporal.

The sergeants are Martin Blacker, Henry Bockman, Kenneth Borchert, William Borowiak, Harper Buck, Sebastiano Caporale, James Carpenter, Paul Cherling, John Courtright, Larry Faragher, Jack Fraenkel and Ronald Carro.

Sergeants

Completing the list are Ronald Gibson, Robert Guide, Jack Irwin, Jack Katz, Raymond Kirchner, Danny Langevin, Earl G. Lyman, William McVicker, James Norlem, Philip Springer, John Stemple, Gerald Vogt and Harry Wise.

Promoted to cadet corporal are Jack Farmer, John Overton, Ivo Suing and Maynard Tatelman.

Going to the dogs...

Discriminating dogdom had its day Wednesday in the Gateway office.

Buff, four-month old cocker spaniel belonging to feature columnist Marty Blacker's sister, wandered around the office, bewildered by affection from female staffers.

Blacker, expert in canine behavior (see edition of Dec. 14) carefully spread out four copies of last week's Gateway in a business office corner. Buff, who according to Blacker is "almost housebroken" ran true to form.

Commented Blacker: "D... smartest pup I ever saw. He chose my column."

Journalism meet --

George Yates, chief of the Des Moines Register's Photographic Department, will be guest speaker at the third annual High School Journalism Clinic. The clinic is scheduled for Feb. 8 at the University of Omaha.

High school editors, reporters and journalism teachers from Iowa and Nebraska attending the one day session will participate in panel discussions. An achievement contest in several areas of journalism will be held.

Yates, who spoke at OU's 1950 House Magazine Institute, has been in the newspaper and photography business since he came to America from England in 1919. When he joined the Register as a one-man photographic staff, he helped to develop three special news cameras.

At present Yates directs a staff of 13 photographers and also teaches part time at Drake University.

Fellas prove it . . . score confirms it

Monday's Feather-sponsored pep rally did more than give a boost to cage morale among the students. Sagging male egos soared as it was proved that a man can do anything a woman can—and do it better. Well, more gracefully anyway.

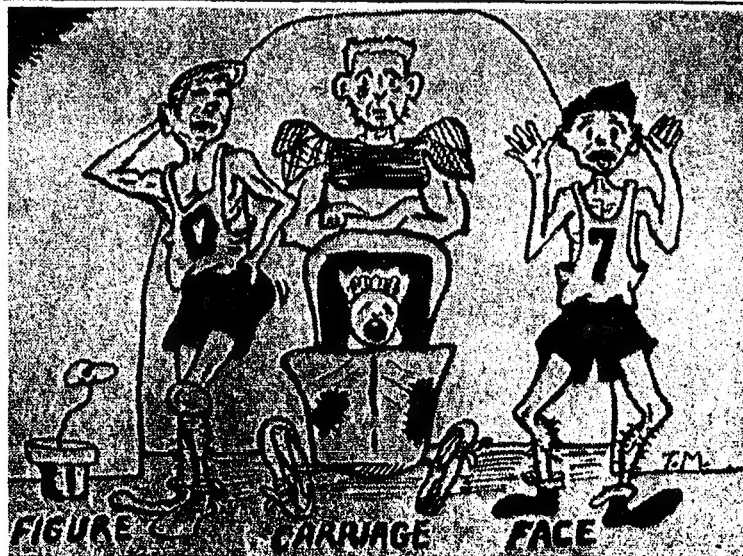

Till Monday women were laboring under the illusion that "beauty" was their dish. And beauty contests? Strictly a feminine brawl.

But the Indian cagers staged a beauty contest of their own that really put the womenfolk in place.

Naturally, the winner or "Beauty Queen" had to have personality, poise, face, figure and carriage. And of course, the winner had to appeal to the audience as applause and cheers were what counted.

Whistles were ruled out. Joe Gurhett was team captain for the Peru Game that night, and besides, who could say that his "carriage" wasn't the best? Naturally he won.

The applause meter verged on a nervous breakdown as Don Fitch and Tom Mosiman brought raucous cheers and applause from the audience. These boys scored high in the stage personality department but were hors d'oeuvres in the carriage division.

Contestants were given two chances to appear at their best—first in suitable Fall attire of shoulder pads and helmets; next they came on stage with "off the center" baseball hats and spring sports' gear.

Though some students failed to agree with the contest winner, few could find fault with the basketball score that same evening. The Indians rescalped the Peru cagers on the Fieldhouse floor, 72-65.

'Big Brothers' watch for Center offenders

Results of the Gateway-Student Council "Big Brother" campaign are progressing satisfactorily. This is the opinion of Council President Ben Tobias, who organized the campaign.

The plan to keep the Student Center clean began Jan. 9. Students helping in the Center as "Big Brothers" this week were Larry Brehm, Dale Cockerill and Duane Sprick.

Tobias commented that more "Big Brothers" could be used during the lunch hour. The clean-up campaign will continue "as long as necessary," said Tobias.

Not final

This figure is not the final enrollment figure for the second semester.

Late registrants and new students have yet to enroll, and in all probability, will increase that number.

Counseling and registration for new students is Jan. 28.

Students registering for night classes started signing up Monday and will continue to do so until Jan. 29. This date

Reminder:

Final examinations begin tomorrow at 8 a.m. and end Friday at 3 p.m.

Both day and night classes begin Tuesday, Jan. 29.

also includes students new to the School of Adult Education.

Whether registering for day or night classes, students will note a bevy of new courses added to the "bill of fare."

New to the day school agenda are Physical Fitness for Women, Square and Folk Dancing, Advanced Radio and TV Production, School and Shop Administration and Advanced Botany.

Evening classes

Additional courses to be found in the evening School of Adult Education are Domestic and Foreign Travel Tips, Editing of Publications, Play Production, English for the Foreign Born and Ballroom Dancing.

Classes for day and night school students will begin Jan. 29.

Student enrollment for the second semester is expected to take a slight nosedive due to mid-year drafting of college men.

Angels' Flight inspires plan for national group

Arnold Society suggests Flight as model for coed organizations at other schools

Omaha University's Angels' Flight may become the nucleus of a national organization.

The Angels' Flight, coed associate of the OU Arnold Society, has been suggested as a model for women's groups on other university campuses. Maj. Robert E. Whaley, commandant of cadets, revealed this information following a flight to Detroit last week. While in Detroit, Maj. Whaley presented the plan to the staff of the Tenth Air Force for consideration.

Enthusiasm

"Everyone from the vice commander of the Tenth on down seemed enthusiastic over the idea," he reported. The commanding general of the unit was out of town at the time of Maj. Whaley's visit.

The plan will be put on the agenda for the March 3 meeting of the P/AS&Ts in the Tenth Air Force area. If these unit commanders favor the plan, the Tenth Air Force will back OU in a national proposal, said Maj. Whaley.

Amendment

After the meeting March 3, the OU Arnold Society will propose an amendment to the national society constitution. Arnold Society members feel that if the P/AS&Ts of the 45 colleges and universities in the Tenth Air Force area back the plan, it probably will be adopted.

If the amendment does not pass, a drive will be started to form the Angels' Flight as a parallel organization to the national Arnold Society.

Plan activities

The OU Angels' Flight constitution was submitted to the

KWOU to resume regular broadcasts next semester

KWOU will resume regular schedule the first Monday of the new semester. According to Bruce Linton, speech director, new speakers will be installed in the Student Center so students will have a better opportunity to hear programs written and presented by the OU staff.

A new course will be offered this semester dealing with radio and TV production.

Gateway staff picks semester's top news stories

Homecoming, 'Audrey' rate highest as Beauty Contest, election follow

The 1951 Homecoming celebration has been rated as the top newstory of the semester by the editors and staff of The Gateway. Five other stories were chosen as having the greatest student interest from a list of 10 possibilities.

The two-day celebration Oct. 19 and 20 featured a dance, football game and the Princess crowning of Jacqueline Zerbe. Another feature was the room decorating contest won by Chi Omega sorority.

A more recent event, the Tom Tom Revue, ranked second. "Audrey," presented in the auditorium last Thursday and Friday, was a completely original three-act musical comedy written and directed by students Berkley Forsythe and Rolly Klopffleisch.

Ranked in third place is the annual Tomahawk Beauty Contest, held Dec. 11. From 33 contestants, Janet Langhammer emerged the 1952 Tomahawk Beauty Queen.

Students turned out at the polls on Oct. 10 to cast votes for 55 candidates for student offices, thereby giving The Gateway its fourth ranking story of the semester. Only 633, less than half the student body, turned out as the Greek coalition swept its candidates into all but one of the available offices.

In fifth place is the annual weeklong Campus Chest campaign which ended Nov. 6. Sparked by the election of the "Ugliest Man" on campus (Arnie Kriegler), students donated over $700, not quite halfway to the $1500 mark but good enough to beat the previous year's donations percentage.

Gateway staffers have chosen "Tobias and the Angel" as their sixth place news story. The curtain went up Nov. 16 and 17 with Bill Pierson and Marilyn Siebert in the leads.

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company

Tales of SHRLDU

By Rolly Klopfeisch

After his recent orgy as director-actor in "Audrey," Forsythe's productivity is at a new low—this issue's feature page had to be filled—thus an intruder appears—to fill space and bring the Tom Tom Revue Diary to date.

Jan. 10, 1951 (dress rehearsal) Klopfeisch and Forsythe swear that Tom Tom Revues are folly, that never more will Revues rob them of sleep—from now on they study—no more Revues for them.

Jan. 12 (night of cast party) Klopfeisch and Forsythe decide that it would be rather foolish to make another attempt at a Tom Tom Revue (even if cast parties—like women—are "here to stay.")

Feb. 5 (grades come out) Klopfeisch and Forsythe decide that it would be difficult to graduate Summa Cum Laude (4.00) average and direct another Revue at the same time.

March 2 Klopfeisch and Forsythe decide that if they were foolhardy enough to try for another Revue, the Student Council wouldn't be foolhardy enough to give it to them.

March 28 Klopfeisch and Forsythe start work (after appropriate inspiration) on a love song for an original musical which is to be called "Audrey"—They set up a schedule—Klopfeisch promises to have all the band arrangements finished by Dec. 28.

Dec. 28 Everything's going fine. The singing chorus has most of its music memorized, the dancing chorus knows its steps, the leads have their lines memorized along with sensational laugh-getting and ad libs which they will use when they forget their lines during performances—and Klopfeisch has his first band arrangement entirely and totally completed in its entirety.

Jan. 10-11, 1952 The 1952 Tom Tom Revue, "Audrey" (or "Women Are Here to Stay") is performed and buried—including Forsythe's sensational Thursday night laugh-getting ad lib i ntehpato f 8 k-("dha-ne ad lib in the part of Cyrano --- "to be or not to be --- I—I can't remember my lines."

Parting comment — if you think this is bad, you should hear one of Forsythe's band arrangements.

Sailor: "Your eyes fascinate me—they're beautiful. I can see dew in them."

Chick: "Take it easy, son. That ain't do—that's don't."

Cheers for 'spark-plug'

By Berk Forsythe

(The following are excerpts from the campus life at Omaha U, which only go to prove that your campus life can also be dull and uneventful if you only work at it.—Ed. note.)

Intramural Basketball — The Theta team scored one of the most terrific upsets in the history of intramural basketball by defeating Phi Eps 117 to 8. Theta's used only five players. Congratulations to Ben Tobias of Theta's who proved the offensive spark-plug, scoring 2 of the 117 points.

The Theater—Congratulations to five-year-old Mike Forsythe, who answered a question with a

AF cheers would take whole game

Many ROTC students got rather confused when they tried to translate the stiff military language of the Manual into something intelligible.

The military is notorious for getting itself involved in its own $2 words. The only danger is that our own ROTC students might begin to talk that way naturally.

This might be overheard from an Air Force cheering section urging their panting athletes to greater efforts:

Hold that line . . . "Impede the foe's forward thrust along the two dimensional entity."

We want a touchdown . . . "We demand a thrust forward, maintaining as our objective the passage of our adversary's goal."

Hit 'em again, harder . . . "Henceforth, smite them more fiercely than you smote them heretofore."

Fuel in the Fieldhouse...

Monday night approximately 3,000 people saw a high-powered engine go at top speed. These 3,000 individuals weren't at a railroad station. They weren't at an airport. They were sitting in Omaha University's Fieldhouse.

And the engine they were watching was OU's basketball team, going at "top speed" to beat Peru for the second time in less than a week.

OU's five-man team can be compared to an engine in the sense that they both need fuel to keep going—the more fuel an engine gets, the harder it works. In this case the fuel is the number of fans who turn out for games.

It seems obvious, after Monday night's performance, that OU's team has what it takes. The team played "guts basketball," to paraphrase a popular expression.

This year we have an old-time rival back on our schedule—Creighton University. It is needless to say that the Bluejays will be out to get every point possible and keep their favored position.

The game with Creighton is not until Feb. 1. But it would do no harm to give our team full support every minute until then. OU plays Doane College Jan. 26.

How much fuel will be in the Fieldhouse that night?

No. 21 goes to bed...

This issue of The Gateway is the last in a series of 21 to be written and edited by the first semester staff.

Of those 21, some have proved to be boons to our morale—others have been headaches of the first order. But all of them have given us a little more experience in finding and writing what we believe the students want to read.

We have tried to bring you a newspaper that has been not only a student newspaper, but a students' newspaper. Our goal has been to keep you informed as well as interested regarding school functions. If we have been successful, it is because you have helped us to get the news—and get it right.

As the next semester begins, we hope that you will continue to read The Gateway. And we hope that The Gateway will continue to improve, becoming one of the best in its class.

We thank you for your readership.

—The Gateway Staff.

All in the family - -

Four Palmquists in four classes major in four fields at Omaha U

It takes a heap of learning to make a student, and it takes a bigger heap of books to get that learning.

Hugo Palmquist, 5636 North 28 Avenue, is finding that out. "There are books in the living room, in the dining room, and even books in the kitchen when my daughter is cooking dinner," he says.

Four Palmquist children are attending the University of Omaha, one in each year. Patricia, 21, the eldest of the family, is a senior. Three brothers, Don, Bob and Dick, follow her in successive classes.

And there is no doubling up on books—all four students are majoring in different fields. Pat is a government major. Junior student Don is majoring in engineering. Bob is a sophomore in business administration, and Dick, a freshman in radio and speech.

"People are amazed when they find out there are four of us attending the university," says Pat, "but, outside of that, we don't have too much in common."

In spite of their diversified majors and the fact that they "see each other only at dinner," they have many things in common. All are working part time to help pay their expenses. All, but Bob who works downtown, are employed at the university. Don and Dick are in the Maintenance Department while Patricia is an assistant in the Government Department.

Korean vet swaps war for books

A Korean war vet will trade his war gear for books next semester after spending a year in the wintry climate of Korea. He is Robert S. Nielsen, corporal in the Marine Corps.

Nielsen joined the First Marine Air Wing in 1946 and served until 1948. He attended school for a year when he was called back in the service in October, 1950.

Nielsen arrived in Korea in February, 1951, as a replacement at Pohang. He arrived just after the First Marine Regiment was surrounded by seven Chinese divisions. He first served as a BAR man, and then was transferred to an ambulance driver.

When asked about the battle tactics of the Chinese, the leatherneck said they depend on mass assaults. "They will scream, holler, blow whistles, honk moose horns, and set off firecrackers to attract attention to the assault."

Nielsen said one of the toughest obstacles which the fighting men run up against is the terrain. The countryside is extremely mountainous and rocky. Corp. Nielsen was hit in the point-blank statement. When asked by Dr. Edwin L. Clark, professor of dramatics, "Who was the biggest ham in the Tom Tom Revue?" Mike pointed to the good doctor and said, "You were." Mike will undoubtedly get his education at another university.

The Charities — Congratulations to the Independents for delivering food and clothing to a needy family during the Christmas holidays. Congratulations are particularly in order for Bette Poska, who carried a bundle of her brother's clothing to the party preceding the good will delivery. The needy family is enjoying the clothing, but her brother isn't. It's cold this winter, isn't it?

Final Examinations — There's a real laugh.

Tom Tom Revues — That's when they quit laughing.

'Audrey' hit is incentive to three

By Nancy Gardiner

Omaha U students were recently treated to a student production in the true meaning of the word. The Tom Tom Revue was the work of students from the novel words and music of Berkley Forsythe and Rolly Klopfeisch to the ultra-original set designs by Phil Abramson.

When interviewed about the Tom Tom Revue, Berkley and Rolly both agreed they were pleased with the results.

"If given a chance," they chorused, "we'd do it again." But, as Rolly, added, "That's why we're glad we're graduating. We'd do it next year if we could."

Literally years went into the music and words the duo used in their production. For instance, Berkley wrote the words to "No One Waits for Me," while in his junior year at Tech High.

However, Rolly nosed him out by a year with the words to "I Never Thought I'd Love You." This also was his first musical score.

The future? Definitely a continuation in the musical field—and as a team, Rolly writing the music and Berkley the words.

If you were to ask one of the Revue-goers, "What was the first thing that 'struck' you when the curtain went up?" the answer would probably be "The set designs!"

They were a product of Phil Abramson, a freshman majoring in art. His modernistic design provided a setting for the "Out of Bounds Cafe" that was both colorful and unique.

Using an original idea, and lacking any beforehand experience, Phil spent the major portion of his Christmas vacation sketching the cafe backdrop.

The results could be seen on the impressionistic back-drop and wings which presented a coordination of lines and colors. The colors created their own effect as predominantly black backgrounds enabled the reds and greens to stand out almost in third-dimensional values.

Probably the best criticism came from the fellow who, when the curtain rose, muttered, "Ye gads!"

Like the directors, Abramson has his eyes upon the distant horizons and the "big time." His immediate plans, though not yet completed, are to work as an apprentice to a professional set designer—maybe in the not too distant future.

New course gives tips to traveler

For those people whose vacations turn out to be annual mixtures of turmoil and expense, a new class called Domestic and Foreign Travel Tips is being offered at OU.

Under the direction of Lawrence Youngman, of Travel and Transport, Inc., a staff of experienced travellers propose to save money for the laymen by teaching him the "tricks of travel." Classes will meet one night a week.

Those who enroll in the six-week course on Jan. 29 will learn such things as how best to use travel facilities and how to get the most and the best for their travel dollars.

Registration will be in the university auditorium on Jan. 29.

Universal Military Training--

Christian Century blasts plan for peacetime draft

By Marty Blacker

Early this week the House Armed Services Committee was to hold public hearings on a bill that is of great importance to you . . . Universal Military Training.

In a recent issue the Christian Century, an undenominational weekly news magazine, published a methodical blast of UMT.

The Christian Century based its main argument on the idea that peacetime conscription would not do the job for which it is intended—that is, keeping this country in a constant state of military preparedness.

"If viewed entirely from the military standpoint, there is nothing in the UMT plan as drawn in this report which would assure a 'trained and ready'—especially 'ready' reserve," says the Century.

"On the contrary . . . that is one thing which this plan will not produce."

The Century charges that the specified six-month training period which would be administered to all young American men reaching the age of 18 is not enough time to fully school him in the art of war. This means that UMT draftees would have to go into the organized reserve for seven and a half years . . . a vital assumption underlying the whole UMT program.

Therefore UMT, without this added lengthy reserve training, would not produce one trained soldier!

It seems that this fact alone, with all its economic implications, would be enough to convince Century readers that a UMT program, if passed, would be disastrous.

There is a moral side to the question which makes UMT even more objectionable.

The Century reports that no effective measures have been provided to safeguard 18-year olds from vice.

Liquor, gambling and prostitution are a few of the evils which would surround UMT camps.

The program would merely make an appeal to the communities adjacent to the camps to reflect spiritual and moral values in their relations with trainees.

The Century says in essence that this is passing the buck from the federal government to people who find themselves near UMT installations.

To further reinforce its attack against Universal Military Training, the Christian Century printed the words of Pearl S. Buck, Albert Einstein, some distinguished college presidents, et alia.

The only voice for UMT program printed in the Century was that of a notorious man of World War II fame—Adolph Hitler.

We think that it is not so important whether you are for or against UMT. It is important, however, to be fully informed as to what is involved in such an important matter.

When you have all of the facts, make your decision.

The Gateway will be glad to print the views of students and faculty concerning the question of Universal Military Training.

Placement office to see June grads seeking jobs

Are you a senior? Do you want a job when you graduate? NOW is the time for all June grads to register with the placement office.

"There is an abundance of jobs. The only trouble is finding qualified persons to fill them," says John E. Woods, director of vocational counseling and placement.

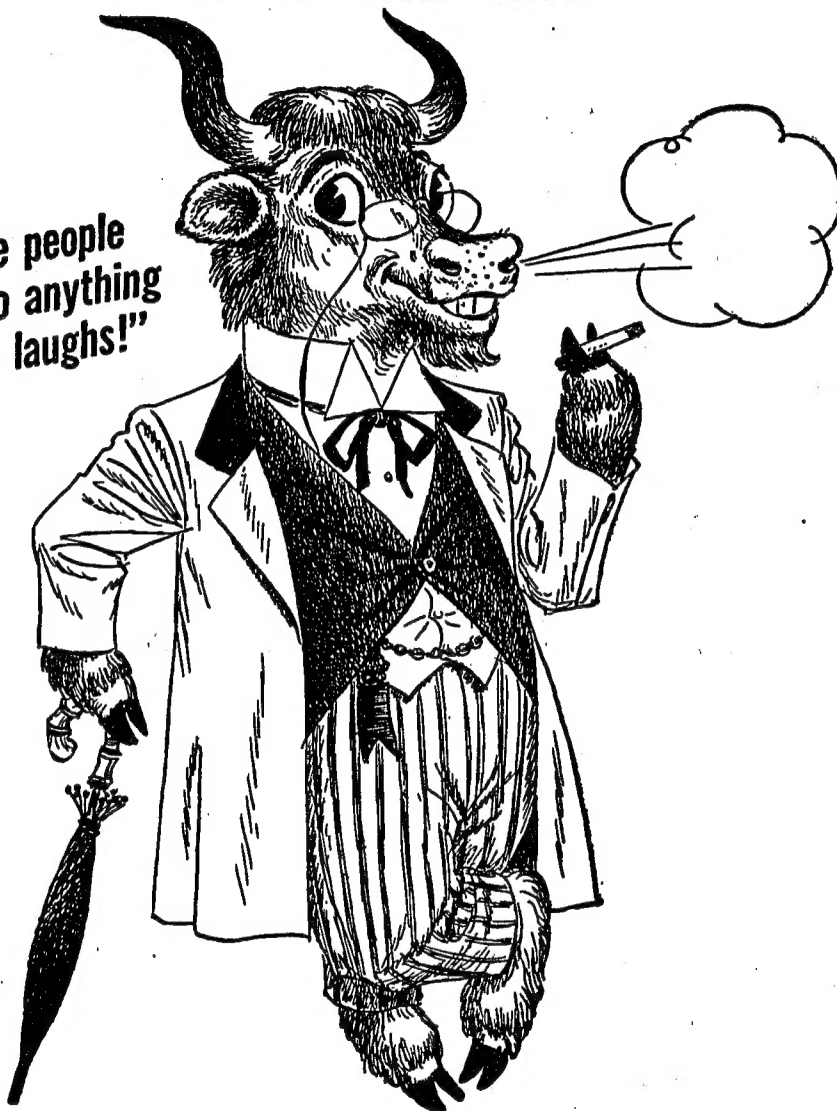

Men with 1-A draft classification will have a little harder time finding a position than others.

There is no charge for this service.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 32...THE YAK

"Some people will do anything for laughs!"

He's far too sophisticated to be amused by slap-stick comedy! From the minute the curtain went up, he knew that you just can't judge cigarette mildness by one fast puff or a single, swift sniff. Those capers may fool a frosh—but he's been around and he knows! From coast-to-coast, millions of smokers agree: There's but one true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Cagers to meet Washburn tonight; face Doane five in home encounter

Attempting to better their 7-3 record, the Omaha Indians will play four games before they tangle with the Creighton Bluejays Feb. 1 on the Indian court.

The Omahans will travel to Topeka tonight, return home Jan. 26 to entertain Doane, and then go on the road to meet Nebraska Wesleyan and Sioux Falls, Jan. 28 and 31 respectively.

Washburn tough

A tough Washburn team will be the Indian hurdle tonight in Topeka, Kans. Coach Marion McDonald's crew is sporting a not-to-be-envied record to date, but are fresh from a 88-62 win over Fort Hays.

This is the same Fort Hays team that dropped the Omaha squad 58-55 in an overtime game.

The brunt of the Washburn attack is headed by Ed Hansen. Hansen, high-flying Ichabod ace, has been averaging about 17 points per game, and is leading his team in scoring.

Probable Washburn

F - Ed Hansen
F - Charles Brehm
C - Bill Yearsley
G - Harold Hauck
G - Niles Nelson

Doane

The Doane Tigers will be seeking revenge as they invade the Omaha Fieldhouse. Omaha downed the Tigers in Crete, Nebr., 58-47, earlier in the season.

The Tigers, led by two-year veteran Kent Newmyer, will be trying for their fourth win over the Indians since the war. Counting the first game of this season, Omaha has downed the Tigers eight times while losing three.

Probable Doane starters

F - Stan Hale (6-0)
F - Bob Erickson (6-2)
C - Don Pizar (6-5)
G - Kent Newmyer (5-8)
G - Jerry Troester (5-10)

Wesleyan

Jan. 28, Coach Don Pflasterer's cagers will move to Lincoln, where they tackle the Nebraska Wesleyan Plainsmen.

This game will be the first time that the two schools have met on the court this season. Last season the Indians dumped the Plainsmen twice, 58-50 and 55-44.

Wesleyan holds a two game edge in post war games over Omaha. They have taken six out of the ten games played.

Probable Wesleyan

F - Burl Kreps (6-3½)
F - Jim Lightbody (6-0)
C - Don Boldebuck (6-10)
G - Jack Wood (6-0)
G - Leroy Seng (5-8)

Sioux Falls

Omaha will be gunning for their third straight win over the Sioux Falls Braves when they invade the South Dakota school, Jan. 31. The Indians have already buried the Braves twice this season, 88-55 and 97-61.

Fred Shinrock and Bob Rose have found themselves in the last two games, and are expected to lead OU in the scoring column in these four games.

Shinrock has averaged 18 points per game in the last two tilts, while Rose has hit for a 23.5 average in the two Peru games.

Good crowd

The record attendance at the Peru game undoubtedly helped the team to its win over the Peru Bobcats. OU fans will have a chance to repeat this performance Jan. 26 at the Doane game.

The probable lineup for the Indians will have Shinrock and Rose at the forwards, Lee Nelson at center, and Bob Moscrey and Joe Gurnett at guards.

Papooses swamp Peru's reserves to gain revenge

Omaha University's Papooses gained sweet revenge by swamping Peru's junior varsity, 62-45, in Monday night's preliminary.

Frosty Westering and Larry Johnson paced the B-team attack with 19 and 18 points respectively as the Papooses avenged an earlier 63-57 setback at the hands of the junior Bobcats at Peru.

Westering tops

The OU reserves rushed to a 16-12 margin at the quarter before upping the ante to 39-25 at intermission. Never relenting, the Papooses poured it on to lead 51-31 at the start of the fourth canto to ice the game.

Westering is the leading scorer on the Papoose five with 59 points in four games, while Johnson is the runner-up with 54 counters in five frays.

Guards Don Hansen and Aksel Schmidt are third and fourth respectively with 28 and 26 points. Schmidt and Johnson have drawn the most fouls with 15 each as Orville Jensen has four for five to hold the high free throw percentage.

Statistics

Coach Tom Brock's Papooses own a 2-3 record for the season. They have dropped Hawvers of Lincoln, 44-43 and Peru, while losing to Doane, Offutt AFB, and the Bobcat "B" team.

Indians bump Bobcats, 72-61 as Rose, Shinrock pace win

Exhibiting its improved brand of ball, Omaha University treated a record crowd of 2600 to a 72-61 scalping of the Peru Bobcats Monday night in the Fieldhouse.

It was the second victory over the Peru five within a week as the Indians dropped the Bobcats at Peru, 71-65, Jan. 8.

In fact, the second game was much like the first as the Red and Black rushed to a first quarter margin of 21-13, and then rambled on to lead at the half, 41-27.

Lead at half

Omaha managed to hold a 12-15 point lead throughout the last half although the Bobcats closed in during the final minutes as Coach Don Pflasterer sent in reserves.

Fouls were a dime a dozen as four men were ejected on personals and one Bobcat player, Don Bornschlegl was evicted after kicking Fred Shinrock in a wild scramble for the ball.

Gurnett stars

Shinrock and Bob Rose were again the stalwarts in the OU attack with 19 and 18 points respectively, while Joe Gurnett was outstanding on defense, holding the usually high-scoring Bornschlegl to 10 counters.

Peru center, Bob Davis, again turned in a mellow performance with a 28-point production including ten free throws. Davis meshed 24 in the first game at Peru.

Alpha Xi dance to elect 'King Satan' next Friday

King Satan IV will be crowned tonight at the Alpha Xi Delta Devil Dance at the Carter Lake Club. The dance is the fourth annual affair sponsored by the sorority for all Greeks and their dates.

The informal dance will begin at 9 p.m. and will end at midnight. Ray Backman's orchestra will play.

Candidates for King Satan were nominated by the five fraternities. They include Ray Abeita, Sigma Lambda Beta; Dick Beem, Theta Phi Delta; Ray Hampton, Theta Chi; Charles Simpson, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Maynard Tatelman, Phi Epsilon Pi.

There will be a display of caricatures of the candidates in the window of the bookstore next week.

King Satan will be announced during intermission activities. A token gift will be presented to all candidates. Joan Godsey, chairman of intermission, promises "something special" for the new king.

The pledge and active groups of the sorority have elected the sweetest and meanest actives and pledges, respectively. Winners will be announced during the intermission.

Sponsors for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Hampton, Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. William Utley and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Wardle.

Vivian Cotton is general chairman of the dance. The Decorations Committee headed by Joan Willey and Elaine Jones have planned decorations following the devil theme.

Sig Ep pledges take final test, plan stag party

Pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon took their final test on the history and traditions of the fraternity Tuesday evening. Initiation is tentatively set for Feb. 16 at Paul Fesler's home.

Don Hopkins was elected pledge trainer. Election of officers is slated for the first meeting in March. The fraternity is also planning a stag party to be held in February.

Charlie Simpson reported that he had written a plan for a Ma-ie Day skit. The treasurer's and athletic reports were also given.

Leadership club seeks members

The Group Dynamics Club will open its drive for new members during the first week of next semester. Don West, president of the organization, said that all students who are interested in group leadership may become members.

Co-chairmen of the drive, Gloria Johnson and Hannah Scheuerman, urged that any student interested contact them.

The purpose of group dynamics is to cope with the problems of leadership and of groups. Formed in 1949, several college groups held an organization meeting this fall in Texas. Plans are in progress to make it a national group.

Sponsors are Paul Beck, L. O. Taylor and Mrs. Catherine Thomas.

OU class tours furniture store

Members of C. H. Prewett's household mechanics class toured Orchard-Wilhelm's furniture department last Thursday.

The class went through the paint shop, cutting and sewing rooms and the upholstering shop. A demonstration of the machines used in making the cotton ticking used in mattresses was given.

Sig Lamb's to hold 'Mardi Gras' dance

"The Mardi Gras" has been set as the theme for the Sig Lamb All-Greek dance to be held Feb. 15 at the Carter Lake Club. Eddy Haddad will play for the semi-formal dance from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Ray Abeita is dance chairman. Ben Bukowski is in charge of decorations and Bernie Briggs, publicity.

Intermission activities include the announcement of the "Queen of the Mardi Gras" who will be elected by Greeks attending the dance. Candidates from the four social sororities will be announced at a later date.

The Club holds writing session

The Club, honorary English fraternity, had a session on creative writing at their monthly meeting held last Sunday evening at Jim Breeling's home.

Members of the club read original stories and the group commented and discussed the student contributions.

Next month's meeting will be held at Dr. Robert Harper's home. The discussion will center around works of literature.

Square Dance Set

The Faculty Square Dance Club of Omaha University will hold its first party of the year next Friday in the university auditorium.

Home Ec Club schedules meet, lists committee

Omaha U's Home Economics Club will play host to the state convention of home ec associations scheduled for March 14 and 15. Marilyn Mellam, president of the club, has announced the committee chairmen in charge of planning activities for the seven-school meeting.

Committee chairmen are Virginia Macoubrie, luncheon; Marilyn Mellam, cocktail party; Joan Tracy and Dorothy Seig, campus tours, and Joan Bugbee and Joan Clawson, favors.

At their Monday afternoon meeting the club worked on their project for the year. They are making a baby layette.

Delta Sig's set initiation dates

Pledges of Delta Sigma Pi, business fraternity, received pledge manuals to begin their initiation training. Initiation dates have been set as Feb. 23 and 24 at the Fontenelle Hotel. A banquet will be held Feb. 24.

Ray Gilbreath, manager of the New York Life Insurance Co., spoke to members at their regular professional meeting Wednesday evening. Gilbreath told about personal qualities helpful to college graduates about to enter the business world.

The annual "Rose of Delta Sig" dance plans were discussed at the short business meeting following the talk.

OU coed to attend national ISA meet

Jane Hoff, regional vice president of Independents Students Association, will attend the National Independents Convention meeting at the University of Oklahoma, April 10 to 12.

President Dean Brown has appointed Nancy Will chairman of Ma-ie Day activities.

Greeks will sponsor first 'Help Week' in February

Dick Beem and Syntha Judd, presidents of the Greek councils, announce that plans for "Greek Week-Help Week" are progressing smoothly. The Greek organizations will participate in activities helping welfare agencies, hospitals and other groups throughout Omaha.

Each group will help in various ways, giving time each day to the "Help Week" doings.

This year's Greek Week will be the week of Feb. 25 to March 1.

Committees for the Greek Week activities are Nancy Hileman and Ed Marsh, general program; Marilyn Everett, Jerry Meyer, and Marsh "Greek Week-Help Week;" Merlyn Fratt, Jackie Zerbe and Howard Olson, hospitality; Olson, Carol Miles and Ray Abeita, dance.

Others are Doris Hanson and Bob Keim, public relations; Marcia Jourdan and Pat Cahow, dinner; George Marling and Jackie Zerbe, finance, and Hugo Kahn and Leonard Leftitz, speaker.

Election, initiation plans occupy Zeta's

Zeta Tau Alpha actives are planning their initiation ceremonies for Feb. 15. The pledges will take their test on the fraternity's background and accomplishments next week.

Election of officers will be Feb. 7. Installation will be one month later. Zeta's also discussed the Greek Week activities. A round table on attitudes was given with an open discussion following.

Chairmen and committee members for the annual Theta Chi Dream Girl Prom have been announced by Larry Brehm and Don West, co-chairmen of the dance. The semi-formal dance will be held at the Carter Lake Club Friday, Feb. 8.

Hal Davenport is in charge of the intermission program. Members of his committee are John Overton, Bill Whittaker, Sam Anzalone, Gene Ernst, Ron Wright, Jim Wright, Rudy Vancura, Brehm and West.

The Decorations Committee is headed by Jack Dunlevy. His assistants include Bill Clark, Ed Berney, Subby Caporale, Ray Selk, Ron Gibson, Dave Meyer, Don Maseman and Harold Layher.

Dale Koutsy is chairman of invitations. Arnie Kreigler, Jim Klein, Harry Henderson and George Marling will help him.

Publicity chairman is Bill Osick. Members of his committee are John Swanson, Roman Hruska, Chris Crowder, Jerry Vogt and Phil Miller.

Candidates for the title of Dream Girl are being nominated by the sororities. Elaine Lof, Sigma Kappa, and Joan Godsey, Alpha Xi Delta, have been nominated. Other candidates will be announced later.

Theme of the dance will center around a dream. Decorations and the intermission program will follow the theme.

Sponsors for the dance include Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Linton, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilbur and Mr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Hampton.

Chi O elects

Rushing plans and elections took over the Chi Omega meeting Wednesday night.

Chi O's named Donna Trambley as their candidate for "Dream girl of Theta Chi" and Janet Brace their nominee for "Queen of the Mardi gras."

Dates for initiation and election of officers were tentatively set.
